Married.

On Thursday afternoon, the 31st ult., at Jonesburg, by Rev. E. Wiley, of Emory and Henry College, Virginia, at the residence of the bride's father, Rev. D. R. McAnally and Miss Julia Reeve.

The Cincinnati Southern Railroad.

We had the pleasure of meeting with Capt. W. J. Kelly, of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, at Coal Creek. He is in command of the surveying party from Chattanooga. His party is now near Coal Creek and are on their way to make connection with the party under Capt. Rahl, which is now about 8 or 10 miles from Big Creek Gap on the other side of the mountains.

Personal.

Messrs. G. A. Pendericis and J. Steward, of Trenton, N. J., and H. A. Stiles and W. R. Sterling, of Philadelphia, are registered at the Atkin House. These gentlemen have been prospecting along the line of the Knoxville and Ohio Railroad, near Careyville, with a view of investing in mineral lands, with the intention of erecting a blast furnace, if a suitable location can be secured.

Discussed a Clinton.

On account to some change in the return trains from Clin in the speeches of the several candidates were necessarily cut down to 30 minutes each. Mr. Garrett opened the discussion in his usual style. He was followed by Mr. Caldwell, who when he had concluded, immediately left, being doubtless unwilling to hear his war record ventilated by Col. Thornburgh, who followed him. The Colonel showed up the ruinous effects upon East Tennessee of Caldwell's policy of taking the tariff off iron and handled his public record with gloves off. He was followed by Davy Richards and A. J. Savage, candidates for the Senate, and Judge L. C. Houk, candidate for Floater. The general expression was that Col. Thornburgh made a favorable impression at Clinton with his pointed and forcible arguments, and undoubtedly made votes yesterday.

A Waif.

The Chattanooga Times says that an infant was abandoned by its heartless mother a few weeks ago in this city, and left with a colored woman, who gave it up on Tuesday to the care of the county. There is nothing known of its parents, and if the woman who had the child knows to whom it belongs she will not tell. The child is a very pretty little girl.

A Convict Emigrates.

The Kingston East Tennesseean says that John Goring, who was sentenced to the penitentiary a short time ago, from that county, for the shooting of a little girl, has been pardoned, and has gone to Kansas with his family.

Paying Expenses.

The Chattanooga Times says that the A. & C. R. R. is already more than paying its expenses. We see no reason why, when fully repaired and put in first class order with plenty of rolling stock, it should not pay a handsome profit to its new owners, as it is the shortest and best route to New Orleans, and will therefore be an important feeder, if not the principal one of the Southern Pacific railroad.

A Slight Mistake.

We hope the following is not a propos of this region at this season of fairs: "A man was awarded a premium at the cattle show and fair in Northampton, Mass., for a two year old colt, when the animal he entered was a horse eight years old. The owner had a colt in pasture and sent a man to bring him to the show; the man made a mistake and took the eight year old horse, which was in the same pasture, and the committee put him through."

Knows the Whistle.

We are told that one of the mules now being worked by the corporation has been working on the city improvements for over eight years. It knows within five minutes of the quitting time, and commences to bray. After the whistle has sounded it will not move a step except towards its stall unless it be just to untoad the cart, if per chance it should be loaded at the time the whistle blows. The whip will not persuade it back after a new load. Sensible brute.

From a Farmer.

EDS. CHRONICLE: We are gratified to have the privilege of casting our suffrages for so pure a man to represent us in the Legislature, as George W. Carns, Esq. No one who knows him doubts his honesty and integrity. When he is in the Legislature, we are assured by his well known character in the past, that we have a Representative who can not be bought and sold, and who will not be driven into the support of corrupt measures. The farmers are for him to a man. A FARMER.

Cincinnati Southern Railroad.

A correspondent at Coal Creek states that Col. Kelly's corps of engineers are daily expected at that point. The Colonel has been there for several days and considers the route surveyed the best line. The highest grade between that point and Chattanooga is sixty-six feet. Our correspondent says that it is the very road above all others that East Tennessee now most needs, touching as it does all the coal and iron lands from Chattanooga to Big Creek Gap, and if the road is built iron furnaces will be built by the score along its proposed line.

Important Decision.

The Supreme Court was in session last night and among other important cases decided was that of Joseph Mabry, et al., vs. John Baxter, involving the constitutionality of the outrageous act passed by the late corrupt and incompetent Legislature, providing for a change of venue in certain slander suits commenced by Col. John Baxter, with which the public are familiar.

Change of Post-Office.

The name of the postoffice formerly known as "Vicars," Montgomery county, Va., has been changed to "Vicars Switch," and H. C. Russell appointed Postmaster.

HEADQUARTERS FOR FURNITURE.

A Look Through the Establishment of Scott, Simmonds & Co.

The Largest Stock of Furniture in East Tennessee.

A visit to the establishment of Messrs. Scott, Simmonds & Co., 148, Gay street, will amply repay one even though it is merely through curiosity, for there are many improvements in this branch of manufacturing as in others and the latest styles in this department are as eagerly sought after as in dry goods, or in fact in anything else.

PARLOR SUITES.

In parlor suites this firm can furnish any style, in crimson, green and striped reps, or hair cloth, embracing sofas, chairs, rockers, ottomans, divans, and anything needed for the finest residence, at prices varying from $75 to $150.

We noticed a beautifully finished Devonshire folding chair, finished in green velvet plush, ornamented with fringe and studded with gilt-headed nails; also other styles of different finish, each beautiful of their kind.

CHAMBER SUITES.

In this line their stock is very large, embracing many varieties and styles. Chamber suites in walnut, consisting of ten pieces and worth from $40, the cheapest, to the most expensive and elaborately finished, worth $300. The different styles of painted chamber suites are cheap and tasteful, ranging in price from $45 to $80.00.

Walnut and poplar wardrobes, with and without drawers, plain and ornamental finish, are constantly on hand or made to order.

This department may be mentioned the folding lounge covered in green and striped rep, with spring hair bed, which is one of the most complete and convenient articles made.

BEDSTEADS, TABLES AND CHAIRS.

In bedsteads the purchaser must be fastidious, indeed, if he cannot be suited in style and price. This firm manufacture twelve styles of medium, from $3 to $10; and in walnut the variety is equally large, with prices varying from $6 to $26.

Messrs. Scott, Simmonds & Co., manufacture nine varieties of room tables, three of dining, together with the extension, varying in length from six to fourteen feet. Their parlor and center tables, marble top and plain, are very fine.

The chairs on hand are of every imaginable style, and should be seen to be appreciated, and are numbered by scores and dozens. There are office chairs, dining room chairs, ladies' rockers, chairs for invalids, cane seat and hair cloth, and all the other styles, including those for the nursery and children. In the latter we noticed a novelty in a child's folding high chair and table attached.

BUREAUS AND WASH-STANDS, FANCY ARTICLES, &c., &c.

They manufacture the various styles of bureaus from the common and medium grades to the finest marble top. In wash-stands the variety is equally large, and in these as in every other article, the prices are as reasonable as a good article can be manufactured for.

In fancy articles we noticed wall pockets, card receivers beautifully finished, together with towel racks and frames for the insertion of embroidery, &c. In this line the enterprising firm have consulted the taste of the ladies, and they should not fail to call and see the various ornamental and fancy articles in stock. Some of this work is most beautifully carved and embrace many articles beside those enumerated.

They make a specialty of mattresses and manufacture the celebrated all-wool mattresses, one-fourth the price of hair and just as serviceable, for which they are the sole agents; also, mattresses in shuck and cotton mixed and each separately, together with the hair mattress. They also have spring beds for the low price of $5, which is a great reduction from former prices.

In their large ware rooms, besides the articles mentioned are to be seen clothes racks, towel racks, children's huggies, lounging chairs, catagories, whatnots, &c., &c., in endless variety, while to keep up the supply the third story is occupied as a finishing department, where a force of busy workmen are constantly employed in supplying large additions to the immense stock carried by this firm, the gentlemen composing which are deserving of the highest credit for their efforts in supplying the hundred and one articles in constant demand, which hitherto had to be ordered from a distance. The public will buy where they can get the best bargain, quality considered, and these gentlemen request an examination of their stock before purchasing, confident of their ability to give satisfaction.

The Saddle Tree Factory.

We paid this establishment a visit yesterday and found everything alive there. Messrs. Kemper & Kohlman now employ about twenty hands and are turning out 250 saddle trees per week, for which they find more than a ready sale, in fact they cannot keep up with their orders. This brings them about $480 per week, the most of which is immediately circulated in our midst. They are now receiving orders almost daily from Nashville, Memphis and all the principal Southern cities, and it is impossible for them to fill them at present as fast as they come in. They have now taken possession of the old Box mill mill at the foot of Cumberland street and are putting up machinery for the purpose of carrying on the business on a more extensive scale. We are glad to see this establishment meeting with such great success, for the industry and perseverance of the proprietors deserve a fitting reward.

Religious Meeting.

An interesting revival of religion is in progress in the neighborhood of Cedar Grove, which commenced on the 23d ult. The meeting is of the old-fashioned kind and every night the people assemble from miles around and the woods ring to the shouts of the worshippers. On the night of October 30th, thirty mourners presented themselves for prayer. The meeting is conducted by Messrs. Thompson, Wise and others, there being no minister in the vicinity. On several occasions the house would not contain all who came to worship. From present indications the meeting will continue the remainder of the week.

Personal.

Rev. D. R. McAnally, accompanied by his newly wedded bride, passed through this city on Thursday night en route for his home in St. Louis. The Doctor has signified his intention to accept the position as editor-in-chief of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, which was tendered him a short time ago.

Rev. John H. Parrott, well known to the citizens of Knoxville, was assigned to Wytheville Station by the Conference lately in session at Chattanooga.

Robbery.

On the 18th Mr. Frisley, of Scott county, was robbed by two men five miles north of Abington, near Hayton's mill pond. They were armed with pistols, but obtained but little booty as Mr. Frisley threw his money under the wagon where they did not observe it.—Bristol News.

Dead at Last.

Mr. Joseph Lamb, of Hawkins county, Tennessee, died on the 23d, at the age of 110 years, being fourteen years older than the American Union.—Bristol News.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

In Memoriam—A Noble Undertaking Successfully Presented.

While at Cleveland a few weeks since, we were shown the designs of St. Luke's Church, the erection of which was commenced some time ago.

The building is situated on Ocoee street, and occupies the front half of an entire square, being 210 feet front by 100 in depth, and when completed will be one of the most beautiful edifices in the State. Its dimensions are 60 by 25 feet in the clear, with a chancel 16 by 25, making the total length 76 feet, extending North and South. On the South East, fronting Ocoee street, will be the tower, 65 feet high, surmounted with battlements, and at regular intervals the walls will be relieved with buttresses, capped with marble.

A FINE EDIFICE.

The material used is brick of fine quality laid in cement, with marble steps and ornamented work. The walls are extra thick and the work is being done in the most substantial manner. Under the Church the furnace for heating the building will be placed, which will be done through three registers. On the west side is the vestry, 14 by 18 feet, and on the east side a mausoleum will be erected making the building a cruciform.

The roof will be of Virginia blue and Connecticut green slate and it is expected that the walls will be completed and the roofing done within two months from this time. The remainder of the work will be finished in probably twelve months and will be dedicated on St. Luke's Day, Oct. 18th.

THE MAUSOLEUM.

Adjoining this, on the inside of the Church is a niche, in which will be placed a life-size statue of Nina Craigmiles, the little daughter of Col. John Craigmiles, who was accidentally killed on the 15th of October, 1871. This will be executed by the famous sculptor, Hiram Powers, in the finest Italian marble. The mausoleum will be built of marble with a portico supported by eight Corinthian columns of Scotch granite with the front of Italian and the sides of Knox county marble. In this tomb will be placed the remains of little Nina, which were reserved for her parents' remains. On each side of the door will be a niche containing the figure of an angel. The tomb will be one story in height.

The Church is erected by Col. Craigmiles, which will long stand as a monument of his public spirited liberality and parental affection. It is immediately opposite his residence, the tower fronting his door and the tomb their sitting room, and is built on the favorite play ground of his deceased child and her mother.

The trunks of five cedar trees which form a natural summer house on the grounds, which were cut to ring with childhood's joyous laughter, have been made into crosses, which will be used in ornamenting the building, fitting emblems of the hope that by the power of the cross under whose shadow the bereaved parents sit, they may join their loved one who has gone before, in the "far better land."

MEMORIAL WINDOW.

In the chancel will be a large window fifteen feet in height, with lights of stained glass bearing the figures of the Saviour on the right and St. Luke on the left with that of little Nina in the center. The front will contain a circular window, also of stained glass, the lights radiating to the center. The windows and doors are of the gothic style and were made in Nashville, where the marble work was also done. The workmanship will be of the best style throughout, and the cost of the church when completed will approximate $25,000.

Every year on the anniversary of little Nina's death the church will be decorated with autumnal foliage, and memorial services held, one of the last acts of her life being to bring her grandmother her apron filled with flowers, bright with the many tints of autumn, and request her to make a wreath of them. This was done, but the laughing eyes of the little one never beheld her aged relative's work of love, and the wreath is now one of the dearest prized relics in the household, of which she was the sunshine and joy.

Watch Stolen.

Last night two colored men entered the jewelry establishment of Mr. Jos. Wood and while one of them was examining a pair of sleeve buttons, the other reached behind the counter and lifted a watch from a hook that had been brought there to be repaired. That thief will be disgusted to know that it was brass, and worth but a trifle.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have frequent headache, mouth tastes bad, poor appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver or "Biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Sold by all druggists.

A Delightful Surprise.

Ladies whose faces are clouded by superficial discolorations, and who have resolved to try Hagan's Magnolia Balm as a remedy, have no idea of the welcome surprise they will receive from their mirrors after a few applications of that healthful purifier of the complexion. If at all excitable, they will scream with rapture on beholding she change; whether the blemish it is desired to remove be "allowness," blotches, pimples, freckles, roughness, or an unnatural pallor, it is bound to disappear under the tonic operation of this wonderful agent. To say that the blemish disappears, does not, however, convey any idea of the effect produced by this celebrated beautifier. The unsightly tinge, whether diffused over the whole countenance or in spots, or patches, is replaced by a uniform, pearly bloom, to which no description can do justice.

Tragedy in Hawkins County.

We learn the following particulars in regard to a terrible tragedy perpetrated in Hawkins county several days ago, the horrible details of which were brought to light yesterday, which show a depth of depravity so utterly inhuman as to cause the blush of shame to mantle the cheek of a fiend.

Between Rogersville and the Junction lived a family named Berry, who it was understood intended emigrating to the west. Berry and his wife lived unhappily together and a week or ten days ago had a quarrel, soon after which she disappeared and it was supposed she had separated from her husband and gone to her friends.

In the meantime Berry and his family, consisting of two grown daughters and one or more smaller children, made their preparation for going West and yesterday got aboard the train for Rogersville Junction. But the Nemesis was on the track of the guilty wretches and after their departure investigation was made and the body of Mrs. Berry found buried in a shallow grave in a small piece of woods near the railroad. The train was stopped and the entire Berry family taken to the grave and forced to view the remains of the murdered woman, which presented a horrible spectacle, the skull being crushed in a most shocking manner and her features bearing the marks of the death agony.

Berry and his oldest daughter beheld the remains with the utmost indifference; but one of the others was not so callous, and made some revelations fixing the murder on her father and implicating her sisters. The whole family were in custody when the train left. We trust that the unnatural husband and daughters will be visited by the punishment their crime merits.

Attention, Deans.

We insert the following at the special request of some good looking young ladies who think that it applies to Knoxville as well as Steubenville:

In Steubenville, Ohio, there dwells a young lady who writes to the Herald of that place explaining the "indignity" that befalls Steubenville compels the Steubenville belles to submit to. Her words are as follows:

Deans, in girl phraseology, means one who calls and spends the evening, for which privilege he in turn gallants his lady friend to theatres, operas, or concerts. Our gentlemen (?) admirably fulfill the first part of the definition, but the latter—"aye, there's the rub!" Dear youths, although papa is willing to pay gas and coal bills, papa's daughters are not willing to be annoyed evening after evening, and then, when a good actor or our own "amateurs" give us "Mon Shingle" or the "Haymakers," we must ask "Mon Pere" to accompany us, or, falling here, "stay at home." We (the girls) devise bewitching "saletettes," read your favorite authors, look coldly upon strangers, and you have the bravado to attend places of amusement by yourselves, after partaking of our hospitality and enjoying the home comforts of our friends.

Certainly this is not to the credit of the young male population of Steubenville. The writer of the communication, it appears, is perfectly willing to be "annoyed" for two or three evenings a week, if the annoyee will compensate for the annoyance by taking her once in a while to the theatre.

Consignments Solicited.

ATLANTA, Oct. 29, 1872.

Since our last report we have no falling off in trade, but rather increased activity in all lines. The remarkably fine weather is bringing more cotton to market than was current on; hence we see a little weakening of prices. Provisions are touched only for immediate wants. All concerned look for a decline in Hog Products ere long. In grain, Corn has reduced to 95; we see no reason for it, only a local scarcity, on account of transportation. Wheat is held firmly at outside prices. Barley, nominal. Oats dull. In light produce, Onions are steady; Potatoes in fair demand; Apples in demand. Butter is held less firmly; stock accumulating, and only fresh lots find sale at quoted prices; we advise shippers to send none but strictly fresh lots, to realize the quoted prices; others will not sell. Eggs are scarce. Dressed Poultry has made its appearance in market, fresh lots selling readily. Fine live chickens are sold lively. Tallow is in demand.

We quote wheat $1.80a2.00 per bushel. Corn—85a90c for mixed; 95 for prime white. Barley—1.00a1.15. Oats—55a60 for black. Bacon—clear sides 12a12c. Lard—unchanged, 12a13c.
